HIGHMOUNT CAPITAL JOINS BROWN ADVISORY

The Combination Will Add to the Firm's Capabilities in New York, Boston and Globally

NEW YORK & BOSTON, June 22, 2015 – Highmount Capital is pleased to announce that it has joined Brown Advisory, a Baltimore- and Washington, D.C.-based independent investment advisor with 445 professionals serving both private and institutional clients in the U.S. and abroad.

The Highmount teams in New York and Boston will complement the Brown Advisory colleagues there to serve the firm's array of clients. Clients around the globe will benefit from the enhanced investment insight, strategic advice and client service that this combination makes possible.

"Highmount clients will be advised by the same teams they know well, but those teams will now have access to additional investment resources and enhanced infrastructure," said Highmount founding partner and Chief Executive Officer Steven Hoch. "For us, it was all about the culture and the people, and Brown Advisory was a compelling choice right from the beginning."

Brown Advisory President and Chief Executive Officer Mike Hankin said, "We were attracted to Highmount because of the firm's client-first culture, as well as the talent and thought leadership of their team. Highmount has an impressive reputation for commitment to clients and for excellence in the areas of family governance and sustainability. It is one of the few firms with expertise in advising international private clients, which will complement our growing private client business served by our London office."

All 34 Highmount Capital professionals will transition over to Brown Advisory and will own equity in the firm, as do all Brown Advisory colleagues.
